

The European Society of Endocrinology Humanitarian Statement for Partner Organisations

The European Society of Endocrinology (ESE) is dedicated to advancing the field of endocrinology through scientific research, education, and clinical practice. We are committed to promoting health and well-being for all people - regardless of nationality, ethnicity, gender or political affiliation.

As an organisation, we adhere to the following principles:

- 1. Commitment to Peace: We believe that peace is of fundamental importance to all and strive to contribute to a world where conflict and violence are replaced by dialogue and mutual understanding.
- 2. Respect for International Law: We uphold the principles of international law, including human rights and humanitarian law, and we advocate for their universal respect and implementation.
- 3. Non-Political Stance: ESE is a non-political organisation. We focus solely on the advancement of endocrinology and of science and do not endorse any political parties or movements.

To maintain our commitment to these principles, all organisations who are members of ESE, or who seek to joining ESE as an organisational member are required to formally agree to uphold and promote these values.

By signing this statement, your organisation affirms that it shares this dedication to peace, respect for international law and the non-political nature of our shared mission.

Together, we can foster a global community rooted in scientific excellence and humanitarian values, advancing endocrinology for the benefit of all. We trust that this important statement reflects our collective commitment to these core values and strengthens our community's resolve to work together harmoniously and effectively.
